Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 18-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wikne et al.(3,451,842) in view of Van Oost(5,931,595).

Wikne et al. discloses methods for manufacturing an impregnated open celled polymeric foamed article wherein a binder solution as claimed is administer and impregnated into the foam through the action of rollers and pressing followed by setting and drying (see the examples, as well as, the entire document). Though not specifically highlighted, the densities of applicants' claims are held to be elements readily envisioned from the disclosed teaching of open celled articles provided for by Wikne et al. Additionally, employment of multiple rollers for purpose of providing the rolling operations disclosed is held to be an operation readily envisioned from the teachings of Wikne et al. based on Wikne et al.'s encompassing disclosure of rolling.

Wikne et al. differs from applicants' claims in that it does not require feeding of the setting slurry through at least one of the rolling apparatuses. However, Van Oost (see the entire document) discloses devices for applying liquid products through perforated rollers for the purpose of providing controlled administration of the applied solution. Accordingly, it would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art to have employed the roller device of Van Oost in applying the binder solution to the open cell article in the preparations of Wikne et al. for the purpose of controlling administration of the binder slurry, providing conservation of administered product, and promoting cleaner administration of the administered material in order to arrive at the processes of applicants' claims with the expectation of success in the absence of a showing of new or unexpected results.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tollasepp(5,366,122) is cited for its disclosure of relevant fluid administration systems in the art.
